COWICHAN EXHIBITION.

A Large Number of Visitors—The Prizes Awarded, &c.

The eighteenth annual exhibition of the Cowichan, Salt Spring and Chemainus Agricultural Society was held at the exhibition grounds, Maple Bay, on Saturday, 26th inst. The weather was favorable, a clear, bright sun prevailing throughout the day, rendering it extremely agreeable to the visitors in attendance. The Amelia carried about one hundred passengers from Victoria, and half as many more from Saanich and Cowichan, while the Daisy brought down a goodly number from Nanaimo and intermediate points. The steamers arrived at Maple Bay about 1 p. m., when the crowd at once proceeded to a suitable enclosure hedged closely around by the "forest primeval," and about a mile from the landing. A careful estimate of the number of people present placed it at five hundred, probably the majority being residents of the districts embraced by the society. The exhibition, taken as a whole, was a decided success in regard to the quality of the exhibits, but there was an unexpected and unaccountable falling off in the number of articles entered for competition. Last season the building was found too small to contain the large quantity of agricultural exhibits, and in expectation of an equally large display this year the directors erected an addition, which gives considerably more space. But instead of an increase, the entries were less, and the added space rather detracted from the effect. The severe drouth of the past summer is accountable for the falling off in a great measure, while a flagging interest on the part of a few of the farmers of the locality has, very probably, something to do with a decline that the friends of the society are correct in thinking is as inexcusable as it is unfortunate. But there was no deterioration in the excellency of products shown. The

THE GROUND,

DISPLAY OF VEGETABLES

would be hard to excell anywhere, especially the cabbage, which were large and firm. Some half dozen heads, shown by Mr. Ackerman, measured eighteen inches in diameter. They captured the first prize, while Mr. McClay was a close second in the same class. There was also a fine display of potatoes, about fifteen samples being shown. Mr. S. Flett took first prizes for both early and late, and Mr. Wm. Lilley for best three varieties. Of mangolds and beets there were but two entries, in each, six in turnips, for which Mr. W. Pollard took first in two classes. Squashes (six entries) were exhibited by Messrs. Duncan and Akerman measuring eighteen inches in diameter, and onions (seven entries) by Messrs. Menzies, Richards, Fry, Drummond and others, that were superior to anything imported from the other side. In the various kinds of

GRAIN

there were about thirty entries, and the samples would have done no discredit to Manitoba. Mr. W. C. Duncan was awarded first prize for spring and Mr. White first for fall wheat. The exhibit of oats was perhaps the best in the grain class, the variety being greater; Mr. Drinkwater secured first prize and Mr. Evans second. In the

FRUIT LINE

there was a splendid display of apples—in all twelve entries. Several magnificent specimens of an autumn apple, for which Mr. Corfield received first prize, testified to the fruit-growing capabilities of the district. The impression left, after viewing the various products, was one of surprise that where so much is possible from our own soil so great a deficiency should exist between the home demand and the native supply. The display of fancy work was small, but there were fourteen competitors, and most of the rolls were very choice looking. Mrs. Flett carried off the coveted honor and the special prize, and Mrs. Alson first prize. In there were 27 sheep, 12 head of cattle 4 yoke of oxen, 15 entries of horses, several of swine and a large display of poultry. A very fine ten months' old short-horn calf was shown by Mr. Corfield. Although the youngest, it was undoubtedly the most valuable animal on the grounds.

IN BUTTER

LIVE STOCK

IN POULTRY.

Mr. G. A. Perrin, of Victoria, was a large exibitor, taking a number of prizes for hens. Messrs. White and Pollard exhibited some fine geese and turkeys, and Messrs Akerman, Lomas and Corfield other varieties of fowl. As has already been stated, the exhibition was judging from the number of entries as was to have been expected; nevertheless, in regard to the quality of the exhibits, particularly the products of the soil, it was fully equal to former displays. Our thanks are due to the officers of the society.—C. Corfield, President; H. Fry, Treasurer; M. Edgson, Secretary, and H. O. Wellburn, Assistant Secretary—for courtesies received. ROAD TO ALBERNI.

NOT SO SUCCESSFUL,

Our Agricultural Resources—Paramount Duty of Government.

Mr. G. A. Smith, C. E., of Alberni, has been instructed by the local government to make a survey of the route, discovered by Mr. Love, from Alberni to Cameron Lake, which is reported to be practicable. If Mr. Smith's report is favorable tenders will be invited in the spring for the construction of a sleigh road, ten feet wide, from Englishman's river to Alberni. There are a great many tracts of land between Nanaimo and Alberni capable of sustaining thriving settlements, and these should be made available at the earliest possible moment. The expression that "British Columbia is not an agricultural country" is altogether too common, and will be disproved if the government can only be got to grasp the situation and inaugurate a more vigorous "settlement" policy. It is a positive disgrace that our agricultural lands have not been made, by this time, to produce enough cereals, roots and fruits to supply our comparatively small population. The constant drain of gold, which goes into the pockets of the farmers of Oregon and California, must be stopped if our province is ever to acquire that greatness, in wealth and population, which her resources and highly-favored position entitle her to. Our agricultural lands can be made to yield an hundred-fold more than they now do, and it remains with the government, by encouraging agriculture in every possible way, to materially help in accomplishing such a desirable result.

John Fisher, supplying an intoxicant to an Indian woman. Remanded till to-morrow.

Harvest Thanksgiving.

The harvest thanksgiving services at St. John's Church yesterday morning and evening, were very largely attended. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Fruits, flowers, golden grain, delicate ferns and variegated leaves and grasses were blended together in appropriate designs, and with an artistic effect reflecting very high credit on the ladies of the congregation. Rev. Mr. Jeans, rector, conducted the services, and preached an appropriate sermon on both occasions.

An Orderly Meeting.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The great Socialistic meeting, about which so much has been said, and which the police threatened to suppress, was held at Limehouse to-day, without interference on the part of the authorities. Fully 40,000 persons took part in the demonstration. The speakers indulged in violent denunciations of the present society but no undue excitement was displayed by the immense audience, and the affair passed off in a most peaceful manner. The police kept carefully out of sight of the meeting. The police authorities making no display of force had, it is thought, much to do with the absence of disorder.

The Prussian Government has again rejected the Vatican's proposal in regard to the vacant see of Posen and education in seminaries.

The Roumelian Revolution.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—A Bulgarian revolutionary committee has been discovered at Adrianople. Four arrests have been made. Major Trotter, military attache of the British legation at Constantinople, and Mr. Fawcett, English consul general, have returned from Roumelia. They narrate that on their arrival at Philippolis they were arrested. After having an interview with Prince Alexander they were blindfolded, escorted to the frontier and left in an open field at nightfall in a carriage. They wandered about for several hours, and finally reached the tent of a Pasha who treated them well and forwarded them to Constantinople.

Enthusiasm in Bulgaria.

Special to THE TIMES.

PHILLIPOLI, Sept. 28.—Prince Alexander has ordered the civil and military authorities on the frontiers of Bulgaria and Macedonia to maintain order in their respective districts. The populace on both sides of the Balkans are very enthusiastic over a union between Bulgaria and Roumelia, and numbers of men have offered to enter the volunteer service in support of the union. The ladies are forming red cross societies and making other preparations for the care of the sick and wounded soldiers in the event of hostilities being commenced.

Servia and Bulgaria.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Bulgarian government has purchased the Rustchuk and Varna railway for £1,760,000. Servia's circular to the powers states that recent events in Bulgaria threaten Servian interests, and as a safeguard she asks the support of the powers. At a meeting of students in Belgrade to-day, those present decided to volunteer for service in the army. First and second classes of reserves have been ordered to be formed into an army corps.

The Cholera.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Cholera has appeared at Nice, France, 28 deaths from the disease have already occurred there. Officials, however, assert positively that there is no cholera in the city, fearing that an acknowledgment of the presence of the scourge will have a ruinous effect on business, in preventing the usual influx of winter visitors.

The Pope has consented to act as mediator in the Roumelian question in the event of negotiations between the powers proving worthless.

A Battle near Adrianople.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Advices from Bucharest report that fighting occurred on Friday near Adrianople, and that during the engagement thirty Roumelians were killed and three hundred wounded. The Russian commandant of the arsenal at Rustchuk recently permitted a ship, laden with arms and ammunition, to sail from that port ostensibly to Antwerp, but really to Bourgas.

A German Chief of Staff.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Strocker Pasha, a German officer, has been appointed chief of the staff of the Turkish army corps at Adrianople, vice Said Pasha, the new Turkish Minister of Foreign Affairs, who was until recently Turkish Ambassador to Turkey.

Cummings Wins.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 28—The third and last of a series of races between George and Cummings was run to-day. Cummings won; distance was ten miles.

A Conference Proposed.

Special to THE TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—It is stated that Russia has proposed an immediate meeting at Constantinople of the ambassadors of the powers to settle the Roumelia difficulty on a basis of accepting the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia as an accomplished fact.

Special to THE TIMES.

ATHENS, Sept. 27.—A mob of Crovatians and Macedonians with others held a demonstration before the king's palace to-day.

Fire Department Election.

The nomination of candidates to fill the position of Chief Engineer and Assistant, was held to-day in the office of the Board of Delegates, at 12 o'clock, the President, Mr. Wm. Lohse, presiding. The following were nominated:

Joseph Wrigleworth, of U. H. & L. Co., nominated by C. W. Jenkinson and L. Virgine.

Thomas Dosey, by J. Flewin, L. Marks, D. R. Harris, J. Coughlan and F. Norris.

The polling will take place on Monday, October 5th.

Another Tail Cut Off.

Ah Sing was sentenced this morning by the police magistrate to two months for chicken stealing. One of the first operations he had to undergo, after getting inside of the gaol, was to submit to Mr. Hutcheson's barberous operations. He bore the operation with considerable equanimity, but of course he had to.

The Fortification Question—Changes in the Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.

Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. J. H. Pope and General Middleton, are so much taken up with important departmental business at present that their visit to the Pacific Coast has been postponed till another year.

It is understood that the fortification question of British Columbia will be left in abeyance for some time until the Canadian Pacific Railway is completed.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Quo warranto proceedings of James A. Hinckley, against Dorman B. Eaton, Leroy D. Thorman, and Jno. M. Gregory, Civil Service Commissioners, came up before Judge Wallace in United States Circuit Court this morning. Hinckley asks leave to begin action to remove the commissioners and abolish the commission on the ground of unconstitutionality. The court room was crowded with friends and enemies of civil service reform. United States District Attorney, Dorsheimer, and Dorman P. Eaton, appeared for the commissioners, while G. S. Smalley represented Hinckley. In opening, Dorsheimer said the case was an important one, and as all parties interested were present he thought it should be disposed of. Judge Wallace decided to hear the motion after the calling of the regular calendar. Miller, when Hickley's case was called, demanded to know who appeared for all these defendants. "Sir," said Dorsheimer, district attorney, "I, and by direction of the President of the United States." Miller objected to the commission being represented by the government official. Dorsheimer then moved the court to decide whether or not the argument should be confined only to the constitutional jurisdiction of the court. He said he was instructed to say he and the attorney general were prepared to defend the constitutionality of the act, appointing the commissioners. Judge Wallace sustained the motion. In his argument Dorsheimer said the relator is a citizen, who seeks the abolishment of the office of commissioners of the civil service reform, because the commissioners by powers conferred upon them usurped the rights of the president in appointments. The petitioner has no standing in court because the right to quo warranto only applied to the usurpation, sovereign rights and the U. S. alone could bring the last action in the U. S. courts, and then only through its appointed officers. Neither had the relator or his attorney been deputized by the attorney-general to recommend such an action, and the U. S. alone had a right to the constitutionality of the act, proved up for the commission to bring an action properly. He maintained the relator should have applied to the executive and the judicial authority. In reply of counsel Miller, he contended on behalf of relator, Hinckley, that his client had a statutory right to apply for writ for the citizen created the constitution and his client, as a citizen has a right to avail himself of all its benefits. At the conclusion of argument, court denied the petition for a writ.

Riel and Race Prejudices.

Special to THE TIMES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—A meeting, in behalf of Louis Riel, was held this afternoon, when a resolution was passed asking for subscriptions to raise an appeal to the Supreme Council. Mr. Fitzpatrick, Riel's counsel, said Riel's insanity plea was of no avail, as in a charge of treason no justification was admitted. L. O. David said, to save Riel was to save French nationality, and he was the best Catholic and was the best Canadian who sacrificed most for the cause of Riel. The Orangemen in Ontario, he said, wanted to drive out the French, but they would not be able to do so, for while a century ago they were but six thousand strong, they numbered two million to-day.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Schooner Sierra, just arrived from the north, reports that on August 20th, the schooners Vanderbilt, San Diego and Henrietta, had taken respectively, one thousand, fourteen hundred, and twelve hundred seals.

Special to THE TIMES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27.—A circular in favor of vaccination was read in most of the city hospitals to-day.

The Mystery Solved.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Geo. E. Coleman has at last been dispelled. While hunting ducks on Beaver Lake yesterday forenoon, Mr. Charles Lord, of this city, found the body lying in a few feet of water near the shore and among the reeds. He at once informed some farmers, and the information was at once conveyed to the city and to the friends of the deceased. The body was brought to the city and will be interred to-morrow, the funeral starting from the late residence of deceased, corner of Fisgard and Blanchard streets. The unfortunate man while temporarily out of his mind most likely wandered into the water accidentally. He was a native of the Isle of Wight and an old resident of the city.

MARINE NOTES.

The tug Pilot left last evening with the bark Wakefield in tow for Hastings mill, to load lumber for Melbourne.

The tug Alexander will leave here to-morrow to tow the ship Kosmeline to sea from Departure Bay, coal laden for Frisco.

The bark Hermine will finish loading cargo to-morrow and leave for London about Thursday.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Fisheries exhibit in Victoria Hall is to be forwarded early next spring to the Colonial and Indian exhibition.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD will preside on the occasion of the lecture by ARCHBISHOP FARRAR in the Bank street Presbyterian Church, on Monday evening.

THE DUCHESS OF SUTHERLAND has apparently gone over to the Tories, as she has just become vice-president of the Torquay "Habitation" of the Primrose League.

THE Dominion Government have furnished the necessary apparatus in Woodstock for testing the quality of gas, correctness of meters, etc. It is fitted up in one of the rooms of the Woodroofe block, and will be attended to by an inspector.

LONDON Free Press: The government section of the Pacific Railway in British Columbia, reaching from Kamloops to Port Moody, is drawing to a completion, and in a short time a final settlement of the accounts between the contractor and the government must be made.

THE Liberals have a grand opportunity now to taunt the Conservatives on account of the hopeless divisions of the latter on the RIEL question. That the Liberals themselves are equally divided makes no difference. Not being in power they can have a different policy for every Province, but before many days SIR JOHN must make up his mind to recommend the Gov.-General either to issue his warrant for the execution of Riel, or to grant the prisoner a reprieve.

SPEAKING of Abergeldie, where the Prince and Princess of Wales, with their children, usually spend their autumn holiday, it is there that they enjoy themselves most thoroughly. When the Prince is in the Highlands he is a Highland chief. He puts on kilt and sporran, sometimes royal STUART hunting tartan, sometimes royal STUART tartan, anon, hodden gray, and does as hard a day's work in the forest as any chief or gillie of them all. The young Princes affect the garb of old Gael, and if there were a distinctive dress for women, barring plaid, snood and kirtle, the ladies would wear it too.

SOME papers across the line are already nominating candidates for 1888. The Philadelphia Press thinks that with JOHN SHERMAN, of Ohio, and GEORGE F. HOAR, of Massachusetts, as its candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency, and the old "red shirt" as its oriflamme, the Republican party will be able to retrieve itself next time. All the calmer northern papers, however, are so opposed to a further prolongation of the bitter sectionalism which characterized past campaigns, that this ticket is almost an impossibility. Besides JAMES G. BLAINE is not buried yet, and there are indications that he will fight vigorously for a renomination. Many of the Republican organs are advocating his claims manfully.

AT the Young Liberals convention, a resolution favoring prohibition as a plank in the platform was the cause of the hottest fight during the whole convention. Those who favored prohibition were in the clear majority of the convention, but MR. HAWKE, of Ottawa, moved an amendment stating that the question of prohibition should be submitted to the decision of the people, taken by a plebiscite yes or nay vote at the polls, but not at a general election. This commanded the support of one-third of the prohibitionists present and all the opposing elements, and was carried amidst tremendous cheers. Prohibition was thus saved from being a party question, and on cool reflection both sides were satisfied.

THE Department of Agriculture calls the attention of Canadians to the opportunity now offered to make a worthy and effective show in agriculture, horticulture, manufacturing industries, implements, machinery, industrial and fine arts. An adequate display is urged of our resources in fish and fish products, forest and mineral wealth, and in shipping. The suggestion is made besides, and it is a good one, that models and designs of our public works may be displayed on the occasion. The secretary concludes his glowing advertisement by showing that "every farmer, every producer, every manufacturer, has interest in assisting, it having been already demonstrated that extension of trade always follows such efforts."

THE VICE-REGAL RECEPTION.

The civic reception accorded the Governor-General in Winnipeg was a somewhat chilling one, on account of the manner in which the citizens, especially the Aldermen, were treated by MAYOR HAMILTON, who is likewise Attorney-General for the province. The city erected a large platform on which it was intended to receive His Excellency and present to him the city's address of welcome. When the time for the arrival of the distinguished party had approached it was found that the stand had been taken possession of by the Mayor, the Premier of the province and his Cabinet, as well as a number of the members of the Legislature and a crowd of light headed, empty pocket, would-be-swells, much to the disgust and dissatisfaction of the citizens. The governor was the guest of the city, not of the province and naturally the civic authorities resented the usurpation of the position by the intruders mentioned. In Winnipeg as in every community there is to be found a class of individuals who never lose an opportunity of pushing themselves to the front unasked, and to their conduct is due the unpleasantness, that occured. To His Excellency, as the representative of our beloved Queen, the feeling of attachment to the throne of Great Britain was apparent on every side, but the people felt humiliated at the treatment given them, as the Free Press stated by NORQUAY, LEACOCK & Co. It appears that everything occuring in Winnipeg must be made subservient to, and bolstering up, the government.

Another blunder was committed, that of drawing the lines between people who intended to be present at His Excellency's reception. The attempt was made to enforce the rules which are observed at Ottawa on such occasions. Umbrage was taken at this by the Democratic people of Winnipeg and offence given, which will require time to overcome. It was held—and rightly so—that all who presented themselves on that occasion should enter by the same door and retire in the same manner. At Ottawa senators and members have, by virtue of their positions, certain privileges within the buildings. But outside of Ottawa there should be no inequality, either for senators, members, their wives and daughters.

The reception in Victoria should be so comprehensive that it would be the PEOPLE'S ovation to Her Majesty's representative. A general public holiday should be proclaimed in order that all classes should participate in the celebration. A banquet to some may seem a fitting way to receive and entertain LORD LANSDOWNE. On principle there are possibly a much greater number who are hostile to banquets. Their feelings, as well as those of the great mass of the people—the fair sex and those of both sexes of tender years—who would assuredly be debarred from participating in the festivities, should be considered. It is to be hoped His Worship the Mayor will exercise his influence and and lead the movement which has been so generally suggested and certain to be acceptable to all classes, of having a public holiday on the day of LORD LANSDOWNE'S reception in Victoria.

THE INEVITABLE.

Says the San Francisco Chronicle: "When the Canadian Pacific opens, the Northern Pacific will lose much British Columbia trade." Our contemporary might have gone further and added that San Francisco will also lose a considerable amount of traffic with this city and province on the completion of our own transcontinental line. British Columbians are at last aroused to their true position and the danger which threatens them, should the unnecessary drain by which sums of money, ranging close upon a million, are yearly sent out of the province for animals and their products, and other necessaries of life, which a frugal, provident people should raise and produce amongst themselves. We cannot hope for prosperity if we allow some of our best lands—the most fertile on the face of the earth—to lay in waste, and of our hard earnings, from other natural resources, send our substance in gold to enrich a foreign people. It is with nations as with individuals, and disaster will assuredly overtake us sooner or later unless we are able to show a better exhibit on the credit side of the provincial ledger, i. e., raise our own live stock, use the products of animals raised in our own province, our own grains and manufacture therefrom the staff of life. As a people we should speedily aim at being a producing and an exporting community. We have every opportunity for becoming such, and should the opportunity not be taken advantage of we must remain, as already stated, "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the farmers of countries not so favorably situated by any means as are those of British Columbia.

LORD HARTINGTON laid it down as a political axiom in a recent speech that the weaker an opposition is the more mischief it is calculated to do. A strong opposition has a sense of responsibility born of the expectation that it may some day secure power. It is, therefore, reasonable, and is inclined to be just. Men who feel they are helplessly excluded from power, on the other hand, are prone to resort to vexatious and factious proceedings, which in the long run help them not and do the country much harm.

IT is rumored in London that LORD SALISBURY will offer HENRY IRVING the rank of a baronet. A knighthood, it will be remembered, was offered the distinguished actor by MR. GLADSTONE, and declined by him.

At the proposed Indian and Colonial Exhibition, to be held in London next year, it is intended to secure a fitting representation of the literary and scientific position of Canada, as well as the history of its settlement. With this end in view MR. DOUGLAS BRYMNER, Dominion architect, has been appointed to visit the leading points in the various provinces so as to obtain, if possible, the loan of works by Canadian authors or on Canadian subjects from the earliest period to the present time. Specimens of the works of every Canadian author are desired to complete the collection of which a reasonable nucleus has already been formed. MR. BRYMNER has also been instructed to co-operate with leading artists and collectors in procuring the best specimens of Canadan art, of any period, to be exhibited in a suitable gallery where each work will be shown to the best advantage.

"I met MR. GLADSTONE in London," said DR. TALMAGE; "I had never seen him before. He is a grand man—a giant among men. England can no more do without him than the world can do without the north star. Although 76 years of age, he is still in full vigor, and will lead the Liberals in their contest. The Tories are at present in the ascendency. Nine out of ten of the men that I met want to fight Russia. They think war is inevitable, and that the sooner it comes the better. Therefore they don't believe in the peace policy of MR. GLADSTONE.

LADY CHURCHILL, who is at Balmoral, willstay there for a month, after which she will be succeeded, as lady-in-waiting to the Queen, by LADY SOUTHAMPTON, who, after three weeks will be replaced by the DOWAGER DUCHESS OF ROXBURGHE, who is to remain at the castle till the court returns to Windsor.

In May, 1884, I became manager in this firm and up to yesterday, when I tendered my resignation. It is easy to see that all transactions made by me personally, or under my signature as representative of the firm, must be valid, and for which King Tye Co. are responsible.

The sole cause of my resignation was a disagreement with my only resident partner.

IN LUCK AT LAST

BY WALTER BESANT.

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.)

"I won't," said Iris. "But, you dear old man, what have you got in your head to-night? Why in the world should we talk about getting rich?"

"But, you dear old man, what have you got in your head to-night?"

"I was only thinking," he said, "that perhaps you might be so much happier——"

"Happier? Nonsense! I am as happy as I can be. Six pupils already. To be sure I have lost one," she sighed; "and the best among them all."

When her grandfather left her Iris placed candles on the writing table, but did not light them, though it was already pretty dark. She had half an hour to wait; and she wanted to think, and candles are not necessary for meditation. She sat at the open window and suffered her thoughts to ramble where they pleased. This is a restful thing to do, especially if your windows look upon a tolerably busy but not noisy London road. For then it is almost as good to rest sitting beside a swiftly running stream; the movement of the people below is like the unceasing flow of the current; the sound of the footsteps is like the whisper of the water along the bank; the echo of the half heard talk strikes your ear like the mysterious voices wafted to the banks from the boats as they go by; and the lights of the shops and the street presently become spectral and unreal like lights seen upon the river in the evening.

Iris had a good many pupils—six, in fact, as she had boasted; why, then, was she so strangely disturbed on account of one?

An old tutor by correspondence may be, and very likely is, indifferent about his pupils, because he has had so many; but Iris was a young tutor, and had as yet known few. One of her pupils, for instance, was a gentleman in the fruit and potato line in the borough. By reason of his early education, which had not been neglected so much as entirely omitted, he was unable to personally conduct his accounts. Now a merchant without his accounts is as helpless as a tourist without his Cook. So that he desired, in his mature age, to learn book-keeping, compound addition, subtraction and multiplication. He had no partners, so that he did not want division. But it is difficult—next well nigh impossible—for a middle-aged merchant, not trained in the graces of letter writing, to inspire a young lady with personal regard, even though she is privileged to follow the current of his thoughts day by day and to set him his sums.

Next there was a young fellow of nineteen or twenty, who was beginning life as an assistant teacher in a commercial school at Lower Clapton. This way is a stony and a thorny path to tread; no one walks upon it willingly; those who are compelled to enter upon it speedily either run away and enlist, or they go and find a secluded spot in which to hang themselves. The smoother ways of the profession are only to be entered by one who is the possessor of a degree, and it was the determination of this young man to pass the London University examinations, and obtain the degree of Bachelor. In this way his value in the educational market would be at once doubled, and he could command a better place and lighter work. He showed himself, in his letters, to be an eminently practical, shrewd, selfish and thick-skinned young man, who would quite certainly get on in the world, and was resolved to lose no opportunities, and, with that view, he took as much work out of his tutor as he could get for the money. Had he known that the "L. A." who took such a wonderful amount of trouble with his papers was only a woman, he would certainly have extorted a great deal more work for his money. All this Iris read in his letters and understood. There is no way in which a man more surely and more naturally reveals his true character than in his correspondence, so that after a while, even though the subject of the letters be nothing more interesting than the studies in hand, those who write the letters may learn to know each other if they have but the mother wit to read between the lines. Certainly this young schoolmaster did not know Iris, nor did he desire to discover what she was like, being wholly occupied with the study of himself. Strange and kindly provision of nature. The less desirable a man actually appears to others, the more fondly he loves and believes in himself. I have heard it whispered that Narcissus was a hunchback.

Then there was another pupil, a girl who was working her very hardest in order to become, as she hoped, a first-class governess, and who, poor thing, by reason of natural thickness would never reach even the third rank. Iris would have been sorry for her, because she worked so fiercely and was so stupid, but there was something hard and unsympathetic in her nature which forbade pity. She was miserably poor, too, and had an unsuccessful father, no doubt as stupid as herself, and made pitiful excuses for not forwarding the slender fees with regularity.

Everybody who is poor should be, on that ground alone, worthy of pity and sympathy. But the hardness, and stupidity, and ill-temper, all combined and clearly shown in her letters, repelled her tutor. Iris, who drew imaginary portraits of her pupils, pictured the girl as plain to look upon, with a dull eye, a leathery, pallid cheek, a forehead without sunshine upon it, and lips which seldom parted with a smile.

Then there was, besides, a Cambridge undergraduate, who was not very clever, not industrious, nor very ambitious; he thought that a moderate place was quite good enough for him to aim at, and he found that this unknown and obscure tutor by correspondence was cheap and obliging, and willing to take trouble, and quite as efficacious for his purposes as the most expensive Cambridge coach. Iris presently discovered that he was lazy and luxurious, a deceiver of himself, a dweller in Fool's Paradise, and a consistent shirker of work. Therefore, she disliked him. Had she actually known him and talked with him she might have liked him better in spite of these faults and shortcomings, for he was really a pleasant, easy-going youth, who wallowed in intellectual sloth, but loved physical activity; who will presently drop easily, and comfortably, and without an effort or a doubt, into the bosom of the church, and will develop later on into an admirable country parson, unless they disestablish the Establishment; in which case, I do not know what he will do.

WOMAN AND HOME.

A CHAT CONCERNING THE PROPRIETIES OF PAPER-HANGING.

The Little Ones—To Sweep a Room—Girl Vagrants—An Impure Atmosphere—Washing Clothes—Bits of Housewifely Wisdom.

[Chicago News.]

"Wall paper grows continually lighter in color," said a Wabash avenue man who makes a fine art of wall hanging. "The season is, of course, now at an end. Everybody has finished all renovations and decorations for the summer. Most persons have their paper-hanging done either in the spring or autumn. A few individuals of wealth and taste have their walls rehung both at the beginning of the warm and cold weather, so that they will be appropriate for both seasons. People now leave the matter of papering entirely to the discretion of the decorator. They used to select the paper for each room. They have learned, however, that the man who makes such things a study is better able to give them satisfaction if left to his own judgment. The new fall papers will, undoubtedly, be even lighter in hue than those for spring. I suppose we'll keep right on getting lighter tones till we reach again the pure white satin sheen faintly traced with delicate tinted figures. Then we'll go backward again till the world will see its walls covered with the most glaring hues."

"Are flowers the most popular designs in wall papers now?"

"No; flowers have become too common. There was a great run on flower designs for awhile. Nothing else is really so pretty, you know. A room hung with artistic flower paper—pink roses, for instance, on a cream gray or pale blue ground—looks like a bower. But they've been printed so much in cheap lines that the most stylish and expensive papers now run in other designs, the finest being imitation of figured cloths. This paper is all hand-made, and is very fine. Most of the wall paper now used in America is made in New York. During the last six or seven years the industry has improved wonderfully in this country. Before that all of our best papers were imported. The papers turned out in New York now are equal to the English or French work. American paper is more used by fashionables in the west than in New York or Boston, where the tendency to ape everything English is greater than the desire to have things in the best taste. The English designs for this year are very unique, not to say grotesque, yet they are extensively used in the east. Some of this English paper brings $12 per roll. The patterns are astonishingly large. No frieze is used unless it is a mere extension of the design in still larger figures. Now, it is impossible to paper a room and have the effect artistic without a frieze. One English design for a drawing-room that I saw, represented a luxuriant growth of immense yellow poppies with blue green poppy foliage on a white background."

"Do the stork and sunflower still have a place in wall paper?"

"Not a single stork is to be found in any design, and it is impossible to sell a piece of paper with a sunflower on its surface."

"How is the space above the mantel papered?"

"Just the same as the rest of the room. The style of having the mantel space different is obsolete. Gilt appears in everything—just as it does in the dress line this summer. Nothing is complete without tinsel. The dado is no longer used except in dining-rooms. Most fine houses, however, have the dining-room dado in hard wood. Floral designs are still used for sleeping apartments. A very beautiful design is known as 'Persian paper.' It is highly colored in red and blue passion flowers. French tapestry is used considerably for drawing-rooms. The prettiest thing for nurseries and children's sleeping-rooms is Walter Crane paper. It has delicate-tinted scenes from childhood in Japanese villages. Libraries are decorated in the mediæval style, deep green and yellow leather paper. Some persons prefer the Japaness leather paper, which has gold and embossed figures on a deep china red background."

"What is the correct ceiling paper."

"Oh, a figured paper corresponding to what is on the walls."

Breathing a Foul Atmosphere.

[Dr. S. W. Bowles in Good Housekeeping.]

Above all it is filthy to live in a foul atmosphere. We do not bathe again and again in the same water or enjoy eating or drinking from unwashed dishes. Way be fastidious about such matters during the day and careless at night. The seeds of disease are floating in impure air and find ready access to our bodies. When in sleep the organs are less able to resist the noxious influences. When in earlier times the more careless manner of building houses let the air freely into the rooms around the loosely fitting window frames, and the wide-open fireplaces readily drew out the foul air, the inmates of the dwelling (according to modern ideas), were more uncomfortable, but they were cleaner.

The idea of the modern building seems to be a hermetically closed box, impervious to air from without, niggardly in the means of allowing the air to escape, economy in the use of fuel, prodigality in the waste of life. I do not propose to criticise the carefully built house of the present day, but simply to emphasize the additional care used in making the dwelling warm and dry must be supplemented by equal painstaking in furnishing sufficient means for the proper egress and ingress of fresh air. Not necessarily cold air, but pure air, and this accomplished with as little draught as possible. The possible danger to health is in the current of air passing so quickly over the body as to rapidly exhaust the heat, producing a chill. These required conditions are readily obtained by an open fire place on the one hand and slightly open windows on the other hand, with a screen before the windows, if needed.

You can readily prove if your ventilating is sufficient by occupying the room for a time, and then leaving the room, breathing the fresh air from out of doors for a few moments, and returning to your room. Now your sense of smell is a fair means of judging of the purity of the air in the room.

Told You So.

Here is the latest fashion news from Paris: Although the regular visiting season has almost come to a close, the approaching weddings and private festivities offer sufficient opportunity for the introduction of a remarkable change in gentlemen's evening dress, which made its appearance in Paris last winter. Short knee-breeches were worn there on all festive occasions, they do not fit tighter than the usual long trowsers, and can be made, according to choice, of either cloth or satin. They reach below the knee, are fastened with three buttons on the outer seam, and finished off with a band and metal buckle, or a silk ribbon tied in a full bow. Black silk stockings and very low patent leather shoes are an indispensable addition to the short knee-breeches.

Dynamite and Other High Explosives in Warfare.

While the use of the modern high explosives in military operations is still a problem, and is attended with many drawbacks, a great future is before them. The very variety of these powerful agents already brought into use is suggestive. While dualine and dynamite, lithofracteur and forcite, nitro-gelatine and tonite, and the whole array of the picrates and chlorates convey to many persons only an indistinct idea of their differing properties, they all mark steps of progress in investigation. These are the mighty forces which have already been found invaluable to the quarry and to railway construction; and they are surely to effect as great changes in the military as in the mining arts.

Questions Answered.

Ask the most eminent physician
Of any school, what is the best thing in the world for allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always
And they will tell you unhesitatingly
"Some form of Hops!!!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:
"What is the only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women"
"And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Buchu!!!"
Ask the same physicians
What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.," and they will tell you Mandrake! or Dandelion!!!!
Hence, when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable,
And compounded into Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is so varied in its operations that no disease or ill health can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is Harmless for the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child to use.

CHAPTER L.

Patients"
"Almost dead or nearly dying"
For years, and given up by physicians, of Bright's and other kidney diseases, liver complaints, severe coughs, called consumption, have been cured.
Women gone nearly crazy!!
From agony of neuralgia, nervousness, wakefullness, and various diseases peculiar to women.
People drawn out of shape from excruciating pangs of rheumatism, inflammatory and chronic or suffering from scrofula.
Erysipelas!
"Saltrheum, blood poisoning, dyspepsia indigestion, and, in fact, almost all diseases frail".
Nature is heir to.
Have been cured by Hop Bitters, proof of which can be found in every neighborhood in the known world.

GONE DOWN.

The Schooners San Diego and Sierra with all Hands

The schooner Vanderbilt, arrived this morning from Behring straits with 1244 seal skins. On her way south and when about 100 miles northwest of Queen Charlotte Islands, a cyclone struck her, carrying away one of the seamen and staving in her bulwarks. The captain and crew are of the opinion that the schooners San Diego and Sierra could not have withstand the heavy weather that prevailed in the north and they have gone down with all hands.

Only A Farmer's Daughter.

Theatre Comique was crowded on Saturday evening, the first appearance of "Only a Farmer's Daughter" company. Miss Blanche Curtisse took the leading character, and her representations in the two characters of Lizzie Stark and Madame Laurent, were unexceptional and fully sustained the good opinion formed by the audience in advance. Miss Etta Frank, in the character of "Justine," was admirable. Miss Beatrice Ambergh, as "Molly," was charming, and Mr. J. C. Rourke, as "Sammy Green," was mirth-provoking. Messrs. Golian, Stoddard, Collis and the other members of the company sustained their parts in a very creditable manner. Little Minnie Gilvin, a child not yet five years of age, captivated every heart. The same play will be repeated to-night, when another large audience will be present. The hall and stage are pronounced by some managers to be the best in the city.

Mail to Granite Creek.

The miners on Granite Creek have subscribed the sum of $100 per month to pay for the carriage of a weekly mail from Hope to the mines. This sum will be insufficient, and P. O. Inspector Fletcher has been asked to supplement it with a grant of $40 or $50 per month. This he will probably do, as the present population of the Similkameen is large enough to authorize a small expenditure for that purpose. A weekly trip will be made as long as possible, and when the snow becomes deep on the mountains, impeding traveling, two trips per month will be made.

Questionable Teachings.

The Salvation Army in England carries on an ordinary business, in which religion and groceries are mixed like pickles. From the War Cry which advertises the goods it is warned that the store has soap for sale with "Come to Jesus" stamped upon it, and nice, new Salvation towels with, "Wash your sins in Emanuel's blood," printed in the corner, are retailed at "one and tuppence" each. Is it any wonder that many Christian churches look with disfavor upon some of the methods adopted by the army to preach the gospel.

Shot While Hunting.

Mr. W. J. Armstrong, of North Saanich, brought a wounded man into the city early this morning and took him to St. Joseph's Hospital. While out grouse shooting yesterday on Saturna Island, one of the party fired at a grouse and, being in the line of fire, the shot entered the man's side and arm. He was recently from Texas and proposed settling in the country. Dr. Davie says he will get along all right, and that his wounds are not dangerous. The shooting, of course, was purely accidental.

Mrs. Hampson.

Those who desire to hear this eminent lady evangelist should not fail to attend the first preparatory services of her mission to be held in the Methodist Church this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. Announcements of future meetings will be made daily.

Died from His Injuries.

James Cleary was brought down from Salt Spring Island on Wednesday last and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, having had both legs fractured by a blast. The unfortunate man died last night. He was a native of St. Louis, Mo., and about 43 years of age. Funeral to-morrow morning.

Quick Passage.

Mr. Smith, the new manager for the Hudson Bay Company in this province, reached the city this morning. The journey from Liverpool was accomplished in fourteen days, which is the quickest yet on record.

The Chinaman stabbed and robbed last week on the Craigflower road, is progressing favorably, and Dr. Taylor thinks that he will now recover.

OUR VISITORS.

Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Schreiber Arrive This Morning

Accompanied by other Distinguished Gentleman from the East.

The Victorians were taken by surprise this morning when it became known that Sir Charles Tupper, accompanied by Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Mr. Townshend, M. P., Mr. Andrew Robertson and Col. Bond, of Montreal, and Messrs. D. Pottinger, of the Intercolonial Railway and Stuart Tupper, Winnipeg were to arrive by the Geo. E. Starr. The Honorable Jos. Trutch had been advised of their arrival at Portland, on Saturday, but his absence from the city prevented the announcement being made public. That gentleman and a number of others were at the wharf awaiting their arrival. Conveyances were taken and they at once drove to the Driard, where, with the exception of Sir Charles, they are registered. Sir Charles is the guest of the Honorable Joseph W. Trutch.

Sir Charles Tupper, K. C. M., G. C. B.

Now High Commissioner for Canada in England, has occupied a very prominent position in Canadian affairs since the famous convention held at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, in 1864, when the scheme of confederation was inaugurated. At that convention there was likewise present, representing New Brunswick Honorable Justice Gray, of this province. Sir Charles entered political life when a young man. He was Provincial Secretary of Nova Scotia from 1857 to 1860 and 1863 to 1867, and afterwards premier of that province until he resigned, in 1867, when the Union Act went into force. A seat was offered him in the cabinet in 1867, but declined; also declined the chairmanship of the Intercolonial Railway Board. In June, 1870, he was sworn in as President of the Council, which office he retained until July 1872, when he was transferred to the Inland Revenue office, and again in February, 1873, he was appointed Minister of Customs. On the resignation of the Mackenzie administration in October, 1878, he was appointed Minister of Public Works, which position he held until May, 1879, when the department was divided. Sir Charles taking the department of Railways and Canals, the duties of which offices he discharged until May, 1884, when he resigned his seat in the house and his portfolio in the cabinet. Since then he has devoted himself and his entire energies to furthering the interests of Canada in Britain and the continent. His absence from parliament has created a void not yet filled by any on the ministerial benches. As a debater he was bold, aggressive and a terror to his opponents. He was at all times a tower of strength to his party. From the first sessions forward he occupied a foremost position in the Conservative ranks, and was instrumental in introducing much useful legislation, both at Ottawa and in his native province of Nova Scotia. He is still a hale, vigorous gentleman, capable of accomplishing much hard work. Is of loyalist stock, and connected with the hero of Queenstown Heights in Ontario, Sir Isaac Brock. Is in his 65th year; by profession a medical doctor, took his degrees in Edinburgh in 1843, during the period of the disruption of the Church of Scotland. No son of Canada has taken greater pride in his country, has a stronger faith in its development and future greatness or has done more to promote its welfare and diffuse a knowledge of its vast resources than Sir Charles Tupper. In the Canada cattle export trade, he, above all others, has built up a vast trade through his untiring zeal and energy. His visit to this province at the present time is of unusual significance. It is largely in connection with the Grand Colonial Exhibition to open in London next May. The victories gained by this province at Antwerp should serve as an incentive to achieve still greater fame. The splendid success which rewarded Canada's efforts are due in a great measure to Sir Charles' enthusiasm and the zeal with which he entered upon the work of collecting exhibits from the Dominion. His visit to this city now is with the view of promoting a perfect representation of the industries and resources. We are certain Sir Charles will meet with a cordial reception at the hands of our people and that his efforts will be amply seconded by the provincial authorities as well as by private parties. It is a matter in which the entire province is interested and every effort should be made to render the collection from this province worthy of our position as the completement of the Dominion.

Charles James Townshend, Q.C., M.P.

Succeeded Sir Charles Tupper in the representation of Cumberland, Nova Scotia, in the Commons of Canada in June, 1884, and last winter moved the reply to the address from the Throne. He is of English descent, was born at Amherst, N.S., March 22, 1845. Was appointed a member of the Executive Council of Nova Scotia in October, 1878, and resigned with the rest of his colleagues in July, 1882. He was appointed a Q. C. in Oct., 1880. In politics he is a Liberal Conservative.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, C. E.,

Chief Engineer of the government railways under construction, is an Englishman, a native of Sussex, where he was associated. He is an active, energetic gentleman, a Scotchman by birth, and still retains the accent of the pure Doric of his country. A shrewd observer of passing events, he is pleased with the progress Victoria has made in the last five years and predicts a great future for the province once the trans-continental line is completed and in full running order. Great expectations are based in the east on this event, which undoubtedly will be one of much benefit to the entire Dominion.

Mr. D. Pottinger,

Chief Superintendent of the Intercolonial Railway, extending from Pointe Levi, opposite Quebec, where it connects with the Grand Trunk railway, and thence along the south shore of the St. Lawrence to a point where it strikes across the country to the Bay of Chaleur, and the towns of Moncton, Chatham and the cities of St. John and Halifax. It is a government road and operated economically and in the interest of the Dominion. Mr. Pottinger's headquarters are Moncton, N. B.

Mr. J. Stuart Tupper, is a son of Sir Charles Tupper, and a member of the eminent legal firm of Macdonald, Tupper, MacArthur & Dexter, barristers, Winnipeg. Mr. Hugh J. Macdonald, one of his partners, being the only son of Sir John Macdonald. This firm transact a certain branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's business. Mr. Tupper expressed himself as charmed with the trip across the continent, the scenery of the Columbia, the trip up the Sound, and the solid appearance Victoria presents.

Col. Frank Bond

is Lieut.-Col. of the Prince of Wales Rifles, Montreal's crack regiment. He was at the front during the troublesome times of 1866 and 1870, when the Fenians attempted to raid the Eastern Townships. He is a son of the late Dean Bond, of Montreal, and a member of the brokerage firm of Bond Brothers.

It is reported that their visit to this city will be a brief one; that they will leave for the mainland to Wednesday morning.

Mr. John Desluriers, Chief Messenger of the Public Works Department, accompanies the party as valet to Sir Chas. Tupper and Mr. Schreiber.

LOCATING SETTLERS.

The Government Guide's Visit to Comox and the Islands.

Mr. D. H. McNeill, government guide, who left Victoria on the 26th of August for Comox and the islands adjacent, returned to Victoria on Saturday evening. During his long and arduous journey the guide was chief actor in several hair-breadth escapes, and traveled over two hundred miles, by land and water, from Comox and back. As a result of the expedition he reports sixteen settlers located and two claims staked off for parties who intend purchasing. From Comox his route was to Valdez Island, where good agricultural land was discovered, and also a piece of 1200 acres heavily timbered with fir. On Mare's Island, excellent meadow and bottom land was explored, while on Cortez Island the good land was only found in small patches. At the mouth of Salmon river there is a considerable quanty of marsh land, but subject to overflow by the tides. Mr. McNeill proceeded up this river 25 miles, and found the soil a sandy loam, and all well timbered with fir, cottonwood and alder. On account of the rising of the river by freshets, he was compelled to return, meeting with heavy southeast winds on his way down. When he arrived at Campbell river, he learned that a white man was lying dangerously ill at the Indian village, at Cape Mudge, and wisely deeming it his duty to render some assistance he proceeded thither. He found the sick man, whose name is Wm. Fox, very low, and took steps to have him removed. He brought him to Victoria, and he is now in one of the hospitals. Throughout his journey Mr. McNeill was accompanied by Mr. F. G. Heeley. The time occupied—one month—was longer than expected, but there were no Indians at the mouth of Cambell river to assist the explorers and this retarded their progress considerable. Mr. McNeill advises parties in search of land with the view of settling to visit Cambell and English rivers, French creek, and Valdez, Mare and Cortez islands, in either of which places they will be certain to find very desirable locations.

Tacoma Steam Navigation Co.

A new corporation, named the Tacoma Steam Navigation Company, was organized at Tacoma on Thursday last, when the articles of incorporation were filed with the county treasurer and territorial secretary. The objects are: to build, equip and operate tug boats, steamers and other vessels; to conduct a shipyard or yards anywhere within the inland waters of Washington Territory, at such points as may be suitable therefor; to carry on business connected with shipping, as carriers of passengers or freight, towing and piloting of vessels; to erect, maintain and operate the necessary wharves, docks and appliances; to erect the buildings necessary for offices, shops and works, and to construct roads, railways and tramways; also to purchase, lease or charter vessels. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of $100 each. The trustees are: John W. Sprague, Isaac W. Anderson, Samuel Wilkeson, Jr., F. T. Olds, James Griffiths and W. B. Blackwell. Arrangements have already been made with Mr. H. Doncaster, late of San Francisco, for the construction of a tug boat about the same size and strength as the Tacoma. Its length, on the keel, will be 92 feet; breadth of beam, 19 feet 6 inches; depth of hold, 10 feet 6 inches. The work of construction will be undertaken at once at Tacoma.

Vice-Regal Reception.

The erection of a triumphal arch in some prominent place would be a very appropriate matter, while declaring the day a public holiday, would be hailed with delight by all classes. The co-operation of the naval authorities should be solicited by the Corporation. The civic address should be presented in a public place, so as all can hear the response.

A Rare Opportunity.

Dr. Mintie, of San Francisco, who is admitted to be the most successful specialist on the Pacific Coast, is now to be consulted at this city. The rooms of the doctor are at the Occidental hotel, where consultation may be had free.

PERFECT FITTING JERSEY JACKETS just received, by SHEARS & PAGE, London House.

Mr. Andrew Robertson, of Montreal, who accompanied Sir Charles Tupper on his visit to this province in 1881, is one of the distinguished party which arrived this morning. Mr. Robertson has for many years been one of Montreal's most prominent commercial men. He is still a central figure in many of the enterprises and schemes promulgated in Canada's commercial metropolis. He has accepted the position of Chairman of the Dominion Board of Trade, and at present is Chairman to the Harbor Commissioners; President of the Royal Canadian Insurance Company; President of the Bell Telephone Company, of Canada; and a member of many other companies with which Montreal is associated.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Central School.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

SIR,—On Wednesday last the two "obese" trustees, who had not the courage to deal with certain recalcitrant teachers, went up to the central school and grossly interfered with the internal government of the same by breaking up the proceedings and lecturing the pupils on a subject with which they had nothing whatever to do. What was the principal about? These valiant gentlemen may feel themselves much more secure lecturing boys than correcting teachers, who happen to have "big brothers;" but they ought to be taught that the latter falls within the scope of their official duty, while the former does not.
